MAUI'S NEEDS IN THE WAY OF APPROPRIATIONS

Waikuku, March 14.—Superintendent of Public Works H. E. Cooper came up to Maui on last Wednesday's Claudiene and has been spending his time at Nahiku and Hana districts with J. P. Cooke since their arrival from Honolulu.

A wireless was sent up yesterday from the House of Representatives to Sheriff Baldwin to request Mr. Cooper to return to Honolulu immediately as he was greatly needed by the House. The committee of Waikuku citizens, appointed at a mass meeting last month by Senator Kaine met the Superintendent at Kahului this afternoon and in the limited time at their disposal went thoroughly over the grounds of Maui's needs.

The total amount asked by the committee is $133,250, every item of which is necessary. An item of $50,000 for Waikuku court house is not included in the report as Hon. Kellinohi had already introduced a resolution to that effect in the lower house. He will be asked, however, to raise the appropriation from $15,000 to $50,000 for the completion of an adequate fireproof building for county officials. The committee has been very moderate in its demands and none but most pressing needs have been included in the memorial to the Legislature. While Senator C. H. Dickey was in Waikuku this week, he was pointed out some of the more urgent public needs of Waikuku.

HILO NEWS NOTES.

Hilo, March 14.—W. J. Rickard of Honolulu lost a thumb while lassoing a steer at the cattle round up at Mana last week. His lariat was wound round his thumb resulting in a most excruciating amputation.

While A. J. Williamson and wife were driving near Honokaa last Sunday their horse took fright and ran away. The carriage was upset and Mr. Williamson sustained a slight injury.

Fire continues in the crater of Kilauea. Recent visitors express themselves as delighted with the trip. The new manager, Mr. Hildgood, is uniting in his efforts to make guests comfortable.

D. Kamai, one of the best known Hawaiians of the district, died at his place near Papakou last Monday evening and was buried Tuesday. Kamai was an important factor in politics in older days.

E. E. Bixby, manager of Hackfield's lumber yard, was seriously hurt Wednesday by falling from one of the sheds in the lumber yard. He struck upon his head and had to be taken to the hospital.

Thos. Greig, bookkeeper for the Pauwahi plantation has resigned and will leave for London in a short time. Mr. Greig has occupied his position for fourteen years and in that time has made a host of friends.

MAUI WATER PIPES.

Waikuku, March 14.—Superintendent W. E. Bal of the Waikuku water works has been superintending a gang of natives this week who were laying about 3000 feet of new galvanized pipe received from Honolulu. The extension is from near the Waikuku depot and runs to connect with the factory of the Maui Soda Works. All the natives along that route will hereafter be served with pure hot water. Since the laying of the government pipes to Kahului across the sandhills, the government has been convinced of the error of that plan, and that it has been a costly error, for the erection of a small reservoir at the sandhills in order to regulate the pressure of the water running from the six inch mains to Kahului will now be necessitated. Had the pipes been laid along the main road to Kahului, the danger would have been averted and the extra cost would have been only nominal. Besides, all the residents along the route would have been benefited thereby, whereas now the pipes after leaving the depot pass through a desolate sandhill for a distance of nearly a mile before reaching Kahului. It might be cheaper in the long run, instead of erecting a new reservoir at the sandhills, the pipes be taken up again and laid along the main road to Kahului where they ought to be.

ENTERPRISE DEPARTS.

Hilo, March 13.—The S. S. Enterprise, Miller master, cleared for San Francisco on Wednesday with one of the largest cargoes of sugar taken from this port. Besides general merchandise to the amount of $1233, the steamer carried 9107 lbs. hides, 694 bunches bananas, and 100 lbs. coffee. The shipment of sugar is as follows: Hakalua, 16,750 bags; Pepeekeo, 9700 bags; Waipaho, 8300 bags; Hilo Sugar Co., 11,355 bags; and Oahu, 10,122 bags. Total cargo value, $228,972.37.—Tribune.

BOCK BEER SEASON INTERESTING LEGEND OF HOW THE BREW STARTED

MUNICH BREWER, THE KNIGHT AND THE GOAT—BEST BEER BREWED—GOOD FOR MEN.

Now that the bock beer season opens many are wondering where the term "bock" originated and the meaning of the same. The records of the city of Munich, Bavaria, contains a pretty legend telling how a knight of Brunswick, remarked churlishly on the quality of Munich beer, whereon the brewmaster challenged the knight to produce a brew as good as the exportation of a year on a forfeit of 200 florins.

At last the day to decide the contest arrived. It was the first of May and the courtyard of the castle was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers. A band was discoursing martial airs, and the scene was one of great gaiety.

Suddenly the music stopped and all was quiet; the unique contest was about to begin. The keg of Brunswick beer and that of Munich were placed side by side; the taps were driven and the bumpers filled. The brewmaster drank the Brunswick beer and the knight partook of the beverage from Munich. As he finished his drink, he cheerfully remarked: "That may be a good drink, but only for your women and children, for of strength it has none."

"Oh-ho! So think you?" cried the sanguine brewmaster. "Well, we shall soon see." He then ordered an attendant to bring him two immense vessels, each having a capacity of two and one-half gallons. Both of these great cups were filled to overflowing from the contents of the barrels.

The brewmaster then handed one to the Brunswick, saying: "God bless your drink of Munich court beer." After they had drained the bumpers he again turned to the knight and said: "Now, we will enjoy another to your health, and the one who after laps of half hour, can thread a needle while standing on one foot, shall be declared the winner." The toast was drunk and a maid was sent to her room to procure needle and thread. Returning from her apartment she was obliged to pass through a small enclosure, where there chanced to be a young pet goat.

In her haste to return with the desired articles she left the gate open, and, just at the moment when the contestants prepared to stand on one leg the goat escaped and ran frisking into the courtyard. The brewmaster succeeded in threading his needle, but the knight dropped his three times, and then suddenly fell over and rolled helplessly about in his efforts to regain his feet. "Oh, sir," laughingly said the brewmaster, "what ails you that you grope about on the ground?"

The knight, with thick tongue, mumbled: "This bock here has thrown me over." At this the Duke Christopher was convulsed with laughter, and showed his great pleasure at his brewmaster's victory. "It is my opinion," said the latter, turning to the Brunswick, "that the bock has affected you as little as your beer has me. The bock that threw you over was brewed by me."

In commemoration of this great victory the court brewery at Munich ever since brews a strong, sweet beer, which they have named "bock." For many years this beer was exclusively made at the Munich brewery, but in later years others started to do likewise, until today it is the custom of each brewer when spring approaches to place a "bock" beer upon the market.

A HILO RUNAWAY.

Hilo, March 14.—The worst runaway of the year in Hilo occurred Wednesday afternoon. C. E. Wright, assistant manager of the Volcano Stables & Transportation Co., is laid up with a broken collar bone, three fractured ribs and severe bruises. The horse became frightened on Bridge street and ran toward the city. Down the steep hill heading to the bridge, the horse went at full speed. He dashed across the bridge, across Waiuanue street into the excavation next to Davies & Co.'s store. At the bank on King street the buggy smashed, throwing Mr. Wright with great force to the ground and producing the injuries as above stated.—Tribune.

HOME RULE DELEGATES

Waikuku, March 14.—The Home Rulers held a meeting in the skating rink last night for the purpose of electing two delegates to go to Honolulu to be present at the general convention of Home Rulers. Messrs. C. L. Kookoo of Waikuku and G. W. Kihamauna of Waiehu, received 74 and 68 votes, respectively, and were declared elected delegates. The convention will meet in Honolulu very soon after R. W. Wilcox returns from Washington, when new officers for the Home Rule party will be elected, the term of President D. Kalaokalani having expired last January. Mr. Wilcox may succeed Kalaokalani as the leader of the Home Rulers if the opinion of the Maui delegates may be taken as a criterion. The natives regard Mr. Wilcox as their only natural leader, and as he will not return to Washington, he will be asked to devote all his knowledge of political tactics to home affairs.

INTERFERENCE.

FINANCIAL ARTICLE NO. 5.

DO

we interfere with other financial institutions is the question often asked. We do not, as the system of loaning by us is strictly installment loaning which the banks and private money lenders do not care about doing. Our money is placed on people's homes and business places repayable part interest and part principal each month until the loan is fully paid off. We offer special inducements to the small investor in this financial institution, and centralize small monthly payments from a large number of people who probably have never saved to amount to anything before. The large sums that we receive are from capitalists who are tired of making flat loans and worrying with the bother and trouble of selling out the security which would come back to them and are satisfied that to have their money managed by experienced financiers who guarantee them against loss is much better than investing their own money. No money deposited with us can be withdrawn within one year, for that reason our proposition applies to people who have made up their mind to deposit for a certain number of years if possible, and who would not on account of small interest rates offered on call money, deposit with any regularity through other sources. The above sentence is not intended to convey the meaning that interest on deposits for call money should be large. In fact, the banks are paying today a very liberal rate for money subject to call, and it would be hazardous for them to pay larger rates. The question for today to answer as per one of our former articles is, Why do you pay larger rates of dividends than other financial institutions do?

First—You are a stockholder in this institution just the same as if you were a stockholder in any other financial institution, and consequently get your full proportion of profits, according to the stock owned.

Second—We loan money on installments, thereby getting the use of the money one-half over again.

Third—A premium is placed upon persistency by exacting from the withdrawing member sufficient for his portion of expenses and also a certain portion of his profits.

Fourth—We compound and handle money monthly.

Fifth—In case of stringent times the profits from withdrawals are added to the ones who stay through.

Sixth—In case of good times the expanding of business produces a larger field for loans, which enables us to put out paid up stock through our direct-ors and other large financiers, and guarantee a rate of six per cent. The difference between the said six per cent and the dividend rate of the company (less small pro rata of expenses) is turned into the installment stock.

Wouldn't you like to have your money operated by the side of and operated by the men below, who are the directors and managers of the Phoenix Savings, Building and Loan Association?

CONSERVATISM.

it show conservatism in a bank to pay low rates of interest, why is it that the Phoenix is such a safe institution and pays such high dividends? This seems to be the "sticking" point with a great many prospective building and loan investors, but we do not blame them, as they have never had the building and loan system properly explained to them, or have never given it as much thought as they have their other ordinary affairs.

Banks have a great deal of their money subject to call, and have to, for this reason, make short term loans, with their money or interest all due at one time. You can draw your deposits out whenever you want. On the contrary, the Phoenix makes nothing but long term installment loans, not repayable under a year, and they can run as long as ten; consequently, these loans, being repayable in monthly payments of principal and interest, they receive sufficient each month to pay all withdrawing members and make what good loans come to them.

The certificate of investment stock being distributed among a large number of people and all due at different times, puts it in a safe position, while, if all the money was due at one and the same time, it would be less feasible.

As to the profit feature, these same monthly installments give the Phoenix an opportunity of handling its money half over again. In other words, if the Phoenix has loans at 8 per cent, the handling of the money over again will produce a profit of 4 per cent additional to pay stockholders, and would not have worked a hardship upon the borrower, who is getting rid of his debt in easy monthly installments, the same as rent. On the contrary, the flat loans made by banks and individuals receive their interest on money semi-annually or annually, and are not in a position to replace it on loans if they receive monthly installments as we do.

Another safety feature is the premium placed upon persistency. In other words, the man that withdraws pays his proportion of the expenses and a stated portion of his profits if he withdraws before his contract terminates.
